From the Pastor

Still Learning, but Sent Out Anyway

“Apostle” and “disciple” are two church words that we often use interchangeably. Indeed, in the strictest sense, and according to Luke, the apostles and the disciples are the same people (with the exception of Judas Iscariot, who was replaced by Matthias after Jesus’ ascension – Acts 1:12-26). St. Paul calls himself an apostle, but Luke, who in Acts relates the story of Paul’s missionary work in great detail, uses the term only to describe the reconstituted twelve. According to Luke, only those who knew Jesus during his earthly ministry can qualify as apostles.

We can use both terms, disciple and apostle, in a looser sense so that they describe more than just the twelve. Before we do that, however, we need to understand what each word means and the subtle difference between the two. “Disciple” comes from the Latin discipulus, which means “student.” The gospels sometimes refer to Jesus as teacher or rabbi (Hebrew for teacher), so it stands to reason that those who follow Jesus are students or disciples. “Apostle” comes from the Greek ἀπόστολος, “one who is sent out.”

We usually distinguish between the two terms chronologically. Jesus called the disciples to follow him and to learn from him. As long as he was here on earth with the twelve, they were disciples. After Jesus’ death, resurrection, and ascension, and, especially after the descent of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost, they were apostles, sent out into the world. There certainly is something to this notion: Luke refers to the apostles numerous times in the Acts of the Apostles in the days following Pentecost. At the conclusion of Matthew’s Gospel, the risen Jesus commissions the disciples (Matt. 28:19-20), thereby “sending them out.” St. Paul considered himself an apostle, as a result of his encounter with the risen Christ (1 Corinthians 15:8).

Yet, even the gospels use both terms nearly interchangeably. Both Mark 3:14 and Luke 6:13 identify the twelve “whom [Jesus] also called apostles.” Likewise, Matthew calls the twelve disciples in 10:1 and apostles in 10:2. In Luke 9:1-6 Jesus sends the disciples out to “proclaim the kingdom of God and to heal” (9:2). In 9:10 we read, “On their return the apostles told Jesus all they had done,” but later in Luke’s gospel the twelve are called disciples. Even in Acts, we read of disciples as well as apostles, though there the twelve are always called apostles. “Disciple” is used in Acts to describe believers, that is, converts to Christianity, members of the Church.

While it may seem that usage of these terms in the New Testament may sometimes seem inconsistent, what is clear is that the terms are not mutually exclusive. As we see throughout the New Testament, all of us who are called by Jesus are disciples. Whether we were brought to the baptismal font as infants or have affirmed our faith in a “believer’s baptism,” we were disciples when we emerged from the water. No matter our age or years of scriptural and theological study, we are always disciples – students – of our Lord and Savior Jesus.

Although Luke might not call us apostles – and surely we ought not to consider ourselves on the same level as the twelve (or the thirteen if you include St. Paul on your apostolic list) – we are “sent out” to do the apostles’ ministry of proclaiming the good news of God’s love for the ungodly. So, while we may still have a thing or two to learn about what it means to follow Jesus, we are nevertheless commissioned to continue the work he began among us.

In Jesus’ name,

Annual Report Submissions

All Committee Chairs are reminded to hand in their Annual Reports no later than June 3rd. Reports will be distributed on Sunday, June 17th. Thank you for your cooperation.

The Annual Meeting will be held on Sunday, June 24th

I just finished reading an opinion piece by Joe Lieberman. He ends with the following. Shavuot is 49 days after Passover and is the festival of The 10 Commandments. "This year, whether you are Jewish or not, try considering how you can advance the ideals of the Ten Commandments in your personal and public life- in your community, in this country and throughout this beautiful planet."

What a wonderful challenge. He explains that in the bible that the exodus goes from freedom from Egypt to accepting and obeying a code of laws, The Ten Commandments. "Liberty without laws, leads to chaos, immorality and violence." As I write this, today is filled with a school shooting in Texas, an airplane crash in Cuba and flooding in many areas from the past days of rain. Every day is a challenge for us, to say nothing of the ongoing crisis with North Korea. Many also have individual crisis of health issues or property damage, just to mention a couple.

The Ten Commandments gives us directions to respect and help each other. We need laws to protect our freedom. Our country laws are based on The ten commandments. Our founding fathers thought highly of them.

Let us take care of our mentally ill. Let us grieve and support the families of those who have death come into their family whether by a shooting or a plane crash. The bible is our refuge and help. "Yea though I walk through the Valley of the shadow of Death, I will fear no Evil...."

More "Make Life Easy" next Tips

Another great Sunday School Class year has finished at St. Timothy's. On May 13th all of the Sunday School and their families enjoyed munchkins and juice in Fellowship Hall after a short class lesson. Several of our children received Cross & Crown Awards for missing 4 Sundays or less. 1st year pin: Smantha Scillieri, Lauren Bedi and Ryan Bedi. 2nd year pin: Mia Fernandez. 3rd year pin: James Cleaver. 4th year pin: Andrew Koppenal and William Koppenal. And finally a 10th year pin: Henry McGrath. A special Thank You goes out to the parents, grandparents or whomever else brought them to class. Our Sunday School Teachers were also recognized for their hard work each week also. A $200 donation was made from our Sunday School. $100 to feed 50 people at a Soup Kitchen and $100 to feed a Refugee Family for 1 month. What a great way to "Pay It Forward" and help the less fortunate to now that GOD and St. Timothy's cares about them too. Sports equipment was signed with messages of Love and Hope for the New Jersey Synod's International Servant trip to Bosnia. The children of Bosnia truly appreciate the caring that we help provide.

The Christian Education Committee is also sending out a big Thank You to our Sunday School Teachers and Office Staff. Our teachers are Laura Dec, Travis Brassel, Charlie Purcel, Taisha Purcel, Richard Wantula, Hannah Wantula, Christian Wantula and Lori VanDerStad. Our Office Staff is Terri Loftus, Tanya Kellstrom, Ilona Oosterwyk and Valerie McGrath. They make sure that attendance is up to date, offering is collected, photocopies are made and passed out. And if our teachers need something they are always there to help out.

FISHER HOUSE

To honor your special Guy for Father's Day, June 17th, make a donation to Fisher House

An organization which helps military families cope with catastrophic injuries, illness, or disease, providing housing close to loved ones during their hospitalization. Marked envelopes will be on the table in the Narthex.

Thank you for all your prayers, visits, and best wishes during my months of recovery and then surgery. I especially thank Pastor for his many visits and calls. May God bless you all and be patient with me.

Thank you,

Angels Circle

The Angels took a short break from working on the quilts. Instead they completed 52 “Hugs Pillows” for Bosnia. Work has again resumed on the quilts.

We will meet on June 13th and June 27th at 10am.

Barbara Kaplan

Bosnia IST 2018

Final preparations are underway! We depart June 16 for 11 days spreading peace through Friendship camps.

Thank you St. Timothy for decorating tote bags, making name tags, sewing heart pillows and donating sports equipment. Financial help is still needed for camps and this ministry. One specific area we can help is the orphanage in the city of Mostar. The team has often stayed at this orphanage and this year we will be spending two nights there. Two years ago it was badly damaged by fire and has yet to be repaired. The orphanage primarily serves the Bosniak community and receives little funding from the Croat controlled government. Teachers often go weeks without being paid and the children lack adequate food. While we pay for our room and board there we hope to make an additional donation from our church. If you feel moved to help please place your donation in the offering plate with a note for Bosnia Orphans. Thank you.

Finally a prayer guide will be available on the website www.servanttrips.org during our trip. We invite you to pray with us at noon each day as we will be praying at the same time (6 PM) in Bosnia.

In His name,
Cliff

North Jersey Interfaith Cares (NJIC)

NJIC's assistance to GERA's ESL program wound down this past month with the last official class and recognition of student achievement held May 12th at the YMCA. Summer tutoring will continue on a limited basis, Nancy will be meeting with her posse 4 hours a week with the schedule to be determined. Fall plans are in the works. We will keep St Timothy apprised of service opportunities.

NJIC will be hosting a picnic for the refugee families some time in August again. This time right up the road at the Wayne YMCA. I'm sure many of our students will be anxious to show off their English skills this time. Volunteers and participants will be needed. Stay tuned for details.

Finally St Timothy was able to host a last minute piano recital by a Syrian refugee visiting the U.S. for a short time. Tambi Cimuk, 20 years old, only began playing piano at the age of 15. Now living in Turkey he hopes to attend school here in the U.S. It was a wonderful experience for the audience of 60 plus people to hear this talented young man share his musical gift.

Thank you St Timothy for your support of this wonderful program.

In His Name,
Cliff and Nancy Konnerth
